A Taste of Biological Research

Nathan Ng

Apprentice, The 4th Cohort of Hong Kong Gifted Apprentice Programme

Application Deadline
5 Aug 2022 12:00 noon

Intended Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the programme, participants should be able to:

1. Appreciate the role and duty of a scientific researcher
2. Understand the skills and character required to become a researcher
3. Identify at least 3 skills to do a biological research

◆ Introduction

“As the winner of the SCMP Scientist & Mathematician of the year and a Rickoid in the Research Science Institute (sponsored by MIT), I wish to share my experiences and takeaways from participating in biological research such that others can also appreciate the nuances and perks of research. Moreover, following the success of my first course, “A Deep Dive into Biological Sciences”, I wish to carry on my efforts to share my knowledge with the HKAGE family. This course will focus on different aspects of scientific research and give you a chance to explore your interests as well!”
