Forensic Science Course (Level III)

From Crime Scene to Court Room (Phase 2)

Instructors from Creative Education Unit, The Hong Kong Federation of Youth Groups

Result Release 20 Dec 2022

Intended Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the programme (Phase 2), participants should be able to:

- 1. Practically learn the purpose and flow of crime scene investigation, including recognition, collection, identification and preservation of physical evidence;
- 2. understand how to resolve important information from different evidences, including DNA, bones, dead body and insect, etc;
- 3. use collaborative groups to conduct scientific investigations, share ideas, and present research findings;
- 4. apply inquiry, reasoning, and critical thinking skills to assess and analyse forensics situations.

Introduction

The programme consists of three phases. There are 8 sessions in Phase 2 (A3FOR002C) that integrates the intermediate topics in Forensic Science, includes examination and analysis of physical evidence, crime scene investigation and logical reasoning. Participants will act as forensic officers to work in simulated crime scenes, as well as learn and experience the investigation of toxicology, DNA profiling, Pathology, Entomology and Cryptography, etc. Outstanding participants who completed Phase 2 will be nominated to join Phase 3, the advanced phase of this programme.
