Intended Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the programme, participants should be able to:

1. interpret five essential elements of financial planning: savings, spending, protection, investment, and retirement planning;
2. practice money management tips in daily life;
3. identify the importance of personal savings for the future.

◆ Introduction

The Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Authority (MPFA) is a statutory body established under the Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Ordinance (MPFSO). MPFA is one of the main financial regulators in Hong Kong, that its responsibility is to regulate and supervise the operations of MPF schemes and occupational retirement schemes.

The MPFA aims to help Hong Kong's young people develop the right attitude towards money management, a goal which is in line with the policy advocated by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). Our next generation, the prospective MPF scheme members, is one of the target groups of MPFA's educational programmes. The talk aims to educate young people about the proper attitudes toward money management, the fundamental concepts of the MPF System and MPF investment. It also aims to inform young people about the importance of making early financial and life planning to meet personal goals (including retirement).
