◆ Introduction

Which subject of major interest do you want to study at university in the future? After leaving school, what career would you want to pursue and what role would you want to assume? You might have been asked many times questions like these, or you might have been thinking about the answers over and over ... So, what is your choice?

To be a lawyer because it makes the most money?

To be a teacher because education is the most meaningful job?

To be a social worker because people can get help from you?

To be an e-sport player because it's fun?

To be an interior designer because drawing is your greatest strength?

To marry a rich person because this will guarantee the most carefree life?

To be a superstar because it's the most stylish career?

Making money / Being meaningful / Helping others / Having fun / Unleashing your own giftedness / Enjoying a carefree life / Being stylish – Which one would you choose?

After leaving school, at least one third of your life will be spent at work.

If you choose to pursue the right career, you will get a lot of satisfaction from it and take delight talking about it. If you make the wrong choice, you will need to put up with your work and it will be the last thing you want to mention.

Hence, do it with passion, or nothing at all! So, what is your passion? Come, let's have a talk.

The speaker Mr Isaac WONG is an Associate Director who has been working as a trainer in the insurance industry for more than 15 years. He has obtained the Distinguished Trainer Award 2019 from the Hong Kong Management Association.
