◆ Introduction

Have you ever thought about what you can do for this world?

This programme provides students with the chance to collaborate, engage in interdisciplinary learning, gain practical experience, tackle real-world issues, and address societal challenges. Through activities such as small group discussions, field trips, interactions with professionals, and research studies, students will develop an understanding of the needs of marginalized communities and the challenges faced by social enterprises. Additionally, they will explore the principles of design thinking and have the chance to initiate and execute their own project.

We invite you to embark on this exciting journey towards becoming a social innovator. Join us in this endeavour!
