3. embrace and accept imperfections; and
4. show respect for nature and traditional wisdom.

◆ Gifted Programme Introduction

The workshop offers students a unique opportunity to enhance their spiritual well-being by connecting with nature through the art of woodworking. The experience begins with an exploration of natural elements, guiding students to understand and appreciate the inherent beauty and potential in fallen or broken trees. Students will then engage in hands-on activities to transform these natural materials into functional and artistic wooden creations, symbolising renewal, sustainability and the cycle of life. An immersive forest walk will deepen students' connection to nature, allowing them to reflect on the environment's role in personal and spiritual growth.

Through the experiential learning journey, students will develop perseverance, an appreciation for uniqueness, acceptance of imperfections, and respect for nature and traditional wisdom.
