After completing this session, parents should be able to:

- Understand the insights shared at the 19th APCG to support the growth of gifted children.
- Access counselling or consultation services provided by HKAGE's professional psychologists when needed.
- Apply appropriate strategies and techniques to build positive parent-child relationships.
- Establish a supportive network with other parents of gifted students to share resources and provide mutual support.

◆ Introduction

Our previous "Parent Support Group Programme" was upgraded to the "Parent Advanced Learning Programme" last school year and is now open to all parents of our student members. This advanced workshop offers in-depth support group sessions held quarterly. Each session includes group consultations or counselling, enabling parents to acquire specialised knowledge and build connections for mutual support.

The Asia-Pacific Conference on Giftedness (APCG) is a biennial event that facilitates contributions to the global conversation surrounding gifted and talented education. The conference attracts hundreds of members and attendees, featuring numerous presentations on the latest trends in the education of gifted and talented children.

The speaker will lead a thematic discussion based on insights from the APCG, including resource-oriented models for STEMM talent development, empowering parents to support their gifted children effectively. On-site group counselling and professional support will be provided for attending parents.

◆ Profiles of Speaker

Miss Tinsley Du is a Registered Counselling Psychologist of The Hong Kong Psychological Society Limited (HKPS), provides counselling and psychotherapy. She also conducts workshops and talks for parents, teachers, and individuals of all ages, addressing various psychological and educational needs.
