

Parent Advanced Learning Programme 2025/26 Session 3:

Beyond Intelligence: Navigating Sexual Development in Gifted Children

Dr Richard Kai Cheung LAU
HKAGE, Clinical Psychologist

Application Here

Intended Learning Outcomes

Deadline is on 15 May 2026
(Wed) 12:00 noon

After completing this session, parents should be able to:

1. Identify how gifted traits influence sexual development.
2. Apply age-appropriate sexuality communication strategies.
3. Promote body autonomy, consent, and healthy relationships.
4. Guide children in navigating online sexual content safely.

◆ Introduction

Our previous "Parent Support Group Programme" was upgraded to the "Parent Advanced Learning Programme" last school year and is now open to all parents of our student members. This advanced workshop offers in-depth support group sessions held quarterly. Each session includes group consultations or counselling, enabling parents to acquire specialised knowledge and build connections for mutual support.

Gifted children think deeply and develop unevenly, making sexuality conversations more complex. This parent training explores how gifted traits influence sexual development and provides practical strategies for open, age-appropriate communication. Learn how to foster body autonomy, consent, emotional well-being, and media literacy while supporting your child's healthy growth.

Dr Richard Lau will lead a thematic discussion on stubbornness and provide on-site group counselling and professional support for attending parents.
